Education

For Global Citizenship

The UNIVERSITY OF THE MIDDLE EAST PROJECT (UME), a Cambridge-based educational nonprofit, is offering 10 Professional Development Points to attendees of the Cross-Cultural Education seminar this July during our annual Teacher Education Institute.

The program will take place over two intensive, interactive sessions during the second half of July, including a conference entitled Building Bridges For Learning: Enhancing Involvement Between Schools and Communities. The conference will feature facilitated presentations by 28 leading secondary school teachers from Nine Countries in the Middle East and North Africa. The program will also include instruction by faculty from the Lynch School of Education at Boston College.

When? Conference, Monday, July 30, plus lunch & seminar session in July (date TBA)

Where? Fulton Hall, Boston College, Chestnut Hill, MA

Who? Teachers from across the Middle East and North Africa—and you!

Why? To learn more about the people and cultures of the Middle East and North Africa, while advancing your career in a fun and open environment

All teachers will participate in a half-day session which includes seminar and a teachers' lunch. A small fee will be assessed to cover the cost of food and instruction.

To apply with your resume to this exciting seminar, or to learn more, please e-mail us at ume@ume.org or call 617-876-6361. Visit us on the web at www.ume.org.
